

Richard Knight, Jr.

Dear Richard:

I wanted to send you a note and thank you for the FABULOUS entertainment you've provided me time and again – you've made me look good, you've made my clients look good, and you, in your role as Dick O'Day, deserve an Oscar for "best live ice-breaking entertainer ever"! You have a way of turning the ordinary into something really special and memorable.

At the opening of the Chicago Antique Market, not only did you lead a hilarious public game of Flea Market Bingo, but you also MC'd the Vintage Style Fashion Show with such brilliant improved commentary and the crowd went wild. The photos and publicity that followed were sensational.

At my corporate events, you've been able to get even the most uptight, boring/shy guests to start interacting and ditch their inhibitions – this gift of yours is the gold standard for us corporate event planners, who often throw together groups of people who don't even know each other, let alone know how to let their hair down.

I can't wait for the opening of the Randolph Street Market Festival at the end of May, with you and Becca doing your schtick. I know that I can always enjoy my own events when you are there!!

Thanks again for always coming through for me, Richard.
